Professional-grade audio amplifiers are designed for use in PA (public address) systems. Their job is simple: Take the audio signal from a mixing board and magnify it. Then they send that amplified signal to a speaker or a set of speakers. PA amplifiers can withstand harsh operating conditions and a certain degree of unintended abuse.

PA Amplifiers Buying Guide - Crutchfield

Some professional amplifiers are designed so they have additional headroom. These amps can cleanly reproduce transient peaks that exceed their rated power. In this case select a model with an output power rating equal to the program power rating of the speaker. Consult the amplifier manufacturer or owner's manual to learn more.
