Suddenly - And suddenly, it's today, it's this morning. But I love the I, steel I-beam that my father sold. They poured the pig iron into the mold, and it fed out slowly, a bending jelly in the bath, and it hardened, Bessemer, blister, crucible, alloy, and he marketed it, and bought bourbon, and Cream of Wheat, its curl of butter right in the middle of its forehead, he paid for our dresses ...

Sudden Light by Dante Gabriel Rossetti | Poetry Foundation

and suddenly I saw the heavens unfastened and open, planets, palpitating plantations, shadow perforated, riddled with arrows, fire and flowers, the winding night, the universe. And I, infinitesimal being, drunk with the great starry void, likeness, image of mystery, felt myself a pure part of the abyss, I wheeled with the stars, my heart broke loose on the wind.

Poetry Poem by Pablo Neruda - Poem Hunter

The night is chilly, but not dark. The thin gray cloud is spread on high, It covers but not hides the sky. The moon is behind, and at the full; And yet she looks both small and dull. The night is chill, the cloud is gray: 'Tis a month before the month of May, And the Spring comes slowly up this way.

Burzum - Dunkelheit/Burzum Lyrics | Genius Lyrics

"If the stars should appear one night in a thousand years, how would men believe and adore; and preserve for many generations the remembrance of the city of God which had been shown! But every night come out these envoys of beauty, and light the universe with their admonishing smile." — Ralph Waldo Emerson, Nature and Selected Essays

Hopefully with increased exposure and literary canon reform, the most cited poems will grow far more diverse to reflect the true body of work in the poetry world. This is by no means an exhaustive list; only one poem per author was selected for the sake of brevity, since a number of the below poets had multiple poems show up numerous times.

Running through the night in fear of what I'd truly become. Over and over, I feared those times as they ran over my weak thoughts. Each night I tried to fight it, but it was never enough. I laid in the grass and let my tears flow down to the Earth, and in that moment I heard a song playing around me.
